Regarding Red River Diversion

I live on the Minnesota side and have land where the proposed ti-back levee goes. The project would negatively affect my farming. It would also ruin the land where the ti-back levee goes in. Also I farm my Uncle & Aunt's land along the river south of Comstock, Mn.

All the land I farm has had water on it in the spring but has never flooded in the summer. We have never had water in any of our farmyards in the Spring.

There must be a better way.

Also I don't want to see my father Grandparents & Great Grandparents dug up and move just to protect South Fargo's swamp.

Sincerely

Kevin Olsgaard
